The Silk Road was an ancient network of trade routes that connected the East and West. It was central to cultural interaction between the regions for many centuries. Once gunpowder had been invented in China, the Silk Road helped spread it westwards. The first known instances of gunpowder in China are from 850 AD, but there is now evidence of gunpowder being used for military purposes there until 919 AD. Once the Chinese had started making comparatively inexpensive paper from natural fibers, and invented block-printing, paper money came into use in the country. Silk Road Economic Belt.
