EXHIBITION OVERVIEW. Vija Celmins: To Fix the Image in Memory is the first major North American retrospective of the celebrated artist's work in over two decades. That's what draws us to the newest exhibition at the Art Gallery of Ontario Vija Celmins: To Fix the Image in Memory on now until August 5, 2019. Renowned for her highly detailed renderings of nature's movements – oceans, night skies, lunar landscapes, and spider webs, Vija Celmins has captivated art lovers for over five decades. Vija Celmins: To Fix the Image in Memory is co-organized by the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art and The Metropolitan Museum of Art. Major support for Vija Celmins: To Fix the Image in Memory is provided by the Mimi and Peter Haas Fund. "She is an artist's artist, with a unique vision," said Neal Benezra, director of the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art (SFMOMA) of Vija Celmins, the much-admired Latvian-American artist whose first full retrospective in more than 25 years is now on view at SFMOMA., Vija Celmins To Fix The Image In Memory.
